Quick overview:

Gary Fong's NEW GearGuard™ CABLE and combination LOCK Set enables valuable camera gear to be tethered inside camera bags or secured to a fixed object, granting the photographer freedom to focus on the moment at hand rather than worry about equipment disappearing.

GearGuard™ CABLE and combination LOCK Set used in conjunction with the patented Gary Fong GearGuard LENS, camera BODY and BAG LOCK system prevents theft by restricting access to the gear. When locked with the GearGuard™ Combination Cable and Lock the photographer is able to operate in congested areas without concern for theft. For the first time, photographers are able to leave their gear tethered to a permanent anchor using the ultra strong GearGuard™ Security Cable, knowing that the equipment will remain where it was left. GearGuard's 36" BRAIDED steel security cable is entirely coated in rubber to prevent scratches to expensive equipment. It is extremely flexible, but cannot be cut with hand tools.

GearGuard™ CABLE and combination LOCK Set features

- 36" (91cm) Security Cable made of vinyl-coated braided steel and a 3 dial Combination Lock
- Allows your camera bag and gear to be locked or secured to a fixed anchor
- Designed to work with the GearGuard™ camera BODY, camera LENS and BAG LOCK system sold separately
- GearGuard™ by Gary Fong is designed and manufactured in the USA

"For years, photographers have had serious concerns about the vulnerability of their equipment to theft while they're busy shooting an event or working with customers, and we all have horror stories about expensive gear turning up missing. Whether you measure the value of your camera and gear in hundreds or thousands, our lightweight and compact GearGuard products will ensure safe travel and storage at an affordable price," said Gary Fong, internationally renowned photographer and CEO of Gary Fong, Inc. "With the launch of our GearGuard line, photographers can safely devote their full attention to their craft rather than continually worrying about their costly equipment."
