Description: GEARGUARD Camera BODY Lock

RRP: $24.95

Quick overview:

Gary Fong's NEW GearGuard™ Camera BODY Lock enables a camera body to be secured to any fixed object, granting the photographer the freedom to focus on the moment at hand rather than worry about equipment disappearing.

Constructed of an impervious plastic compound, the twin-plate design provides a solid anchoring point through which the GearGuard™ Security Cable is threaded and affixed to any anchor point using the GearGuard™ Combination Lock. The Camera BODY Lock attaches to the camera's tripod mount and can remain attached during shooting without interfering with the photographer's process.

The screw, which attaches the lock to the camera body, features a threaded port, enabling the camera to maintain full compatibility with a tripod, ball-head or quick release plate when the cap to the lock is taken off.

The GearGuard™ Camera BODY Lock

- Allows the camera body to be secured to any fixed anchor
- Can remain attached while shooting
- Features 2 interlocking plates and an aluminium screw with a 1/4"- 20 tripod socket
- Camera BODY Lock is designed to work with the GearGuard™ Combination LOCK and 91cm Security CABLE SET sold separately
- GearGuard™ by Gary Fong is designed and manufactured in the USA

"For years, photographers have had serious concerns about the vulnerability of their equipment to theft while they're busy shooting an event or working with customers, and we all have horror stories about expensive gear turning up missing. Whether you measure the value of your camera and gear in hundreds or thousands, our lightweight and compact GearGuard products will ensure safe travel and storage at an affordable price," said Gary Fong, internationally renowned photographer and CEO of Gary Fong, Inc. "With the launch of our GearGuard line, photographers can safely devote their full attention to their craft rather than continually worrying about their costly equipment."
